Chartway Credit Union Welcomes Russ Cronin as Senior Vice President of Financial Strategy & Accounting

Virginia Beach, VA (April 21, 2025) – Chartway is pleased to welcome Russ Cronin, who has joined the credit union as its new senior vice president of financial strategy & accounting. Russ is an experienced finance executive with an impressive track record in strategic planning, regulatory leadership, and aligning financial operations with long-term strategy for both credit unions and commercial banks.

As a senior leader on the finance team, Cronin will play a critical role in shaping and executing the credit union's financial strategy. He will oversee finance and accounting functions, providing strategic direction that ensures financial stability, operational efficiency, compliance, and long-term growth.

"We're thrilled to welcome Russ to the Chartway team," said Sander Casino, Chartway's chief financial officer. "His leadership, insight, and strategic vision will be instrumental as we continue to grow and serve our members."

"I'm honored to join an organization like Chartway that's deeply committed to its members and communities," said Cronin. "I look forward to working with the team to drive financial strategies that support long-term growth and create lasting value for our members."

Prior to joining Chartway, Cronin held leadership roles at several financial institutions, including State Street Bank, National City Bank, Capital One, and Crestar (now Truist). Most recently, he led the team at Adirondack Regional Federal Credit Union to increase its community impact by launching small business lending initiatives, doubling the credit union's assets and significantly growing its net income.

Cronin earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting from Virginia Commonwealth University.
